Digests What You Eat

And Makes the Stomach Sweet E. C. DeWITT & CO., Chicago, Iff.

The ABC and XYZ of

A SERIES OF TENTALKS ON ADVERTISING NO. 10 written by Seymour Eaton of Philadelphia No. 10

A man succeeds not because he advertises his business but because he lives it; because he eats it, sleeps it, dreams it, builds air castles about it.

The man who never builds air castles never builds castles of any kind.

The great motive power of any business is the strenuous personal faith of the man back of it.

Put your name to the front; your own personality. This is a tremendous force in advertising. People like to know individuals. They like to feel that they are being served by men; not simply getting their goods out of the hopper of a treadmill. And if people have any kicking to do-and the American people enjoy kicking-they prefer to kick individuals. It is mighty u nsatisfactory, for instance, to kick an Express Company or a Railroad or Brown, Smith & Company-One can't hit the bull's eye.

Breathe the breath of life into your advertisements. It is safe to say that nine out of every ten advertisements which we see are as dead as Egyptian mummies. They are beautifully decorated; twined around with fine linen, draped and boxed for burial. The y have eyes and nose and mouth but they neither see nor speak. They don't even mell. Their faces are either made of putty or are chiseled out of beautiful marble. There is no throbbing pulse.

Advertisements are written to appeal to live people, and nothing can get into the hea of humanity so easily as another heart.

If you have faith in your goods and the public has faith in you the circuit is complete. The advertisement is simply the transmitter through which your faith operates.

The trunk lines are all laid. Every home is connected up. To put your shop in communication with one hundred and fifty thousand possible customers is dead easy. The newspapers go to press shortly after midnight. At eight o'clock tomorrow morning you can talk to one hundred thou sand people about the few little attractive features of your shop which you are making ready; some suits which you are closing out at half-price or some new importations which you got through the custom house only yesterday. Don't run away with the idea that you need to apologize to the putic for disturbing their breakfsat with your affairs. The people like it. A newspaper without advertisements wouldn't sell.

Advertising isn't grammar; it isn't pictures; it isn't type; it isn't top of page position. It is something far more real than these things. These are merely accessories. Advertising is making the proper telepathic connection between you and the customer. It is the art of making the type speak.
